You can be better prepared for the unexpected

Oftentimes, the most valuable assets of any business are the key people who contribute most to its success.

Key employee contributions can be difficult to measure, and may be more robust than you might think. It's likely that the time it takes to find a replacement, if something happens to them, would create a financial challenge that could put the business at risk.

One way to address this risk is Key Person Replacement disability insurance. It's designed to provide the funds necessary to help the business recover financially if you or your top talent is too sick or hurt to work, and can be a critical component to your business protection strategy. It can also provide liquidity for business succession funding or pay for key employee benefit programs.

How it works

Your business is the owner and beneficiary of Key Person Replacement disability insurance. If the unexpected does happen, the business receives funds, generally income tax-free<sup>1</sup>, to help overcome the financial challenge of the loss.

Determine the right amount of coverage

Each business is different, so it's important to carefully assess your situation and different protection options. To help you get started:

- 1 | Review the customized scenarios on the next pages to see how much coverage may be appropriate for your situation.
- 2 | Learn about how much the coverage for each scenario costs.
- 3 | Assess the advantages and considerations of this coverage.

<sup>1</sup> Based on current income tax laws, if insurance premiums are paid with after-tax dollars, then benefits are received income tax-free.
