Fewer than one-third of Americans age 50 and over have begun saving for long-term care (LTC).¹

Do you have an LTC strategy?

Do you want More Care?

Double or triple the amount available to you for LTC coverage.²

Do you want More Convenience?

Find out if you qualify within 30 minutes — no cost, no commitment.

Do you want More Control?

In your time of need, you decide how and where you receive care.³

Learn how you can get more with ForeCare, a unique fixed annuity with long-term care benefits.

7 in 10 people age 65+ will need long-term care.⁴

When planning for retirement, we often think about protecting our assets from market volatility, taxes or inflation, but there's also an increasing need to consider the potential effect of long-term care costs. There's a high likelihood that you'll need some sort of long-term care in your life. It can be expensive, and if you don't have an adequate strategy to cover such costs, your assets could be rapidly depleted.

Long-term care services include a broad range of health, personal care, and supportive services that meet the needs of people whose capacity for self-care is limited due to:⁵

- A chronic illness
- Injury
- Physical, cognitive or mental disability
- Other health-related conditions

Some common long-term care services include:

- Help with eating, dressing or bathing
- Housework
- Preparing and cleaning up after meals
- Physical therapy following an injury
- Administering medications

Long-term care services can take place in a variety of settings, such as:

- In the home
- In the community at adult day care facilities
- At assisted living facilities
- Or in nursing homes.

A typical private room at a nursing home can cost more than $80,000 per year,⁶ and even a home health aide could cost more than $30,000 per year. Money you set aside in a savings or retirement account could quickly evaporate if you don't have a strategy in place, and that could limit your options.

Annual long-term care costs⁶

$16,080 Adult day care center
(5 days/week)

$27,360 Homemaker services
(4 hours/day)

$30,240 Home health aide
(4 hours/day)

$39,516 One-bedroom
assisted living

$73,800 Semi-private nursing home room

$82,440 Private nursing home room

² The ForeCare Multiplier provides two or three times (depending on underwriting eligibility) the amount of contract value in long-term care coverage to spend on qualified long-term care expenses. Benefits are subject to a maximum monthly benefit. The additional coverage in excess of the Contract Value is only available to use for a qualified long-term care benefit and will not become part of the contract value or the death benefit. Withdrawals, other than for qualified long-term care expenses, will adversely affect the amount of coverage for long-term care benefits in the future.

³ Covered Long-Term Care Services must be provided pursuant to a written Plan of Care that 1) was submitted by a Licensed Health Care Practitioner, and 2) has been approved by Forethought Life Insurance Company.

Could you afford $80,000 per year to stay in a nursing home?

Long-term care can be a burden to any financial plan.

How would you pay for it?

You may have money set aside in savings or investments to self-fund your long-term care costs, but you may sacrifice growth opportunities or risk exposure to equity market volatility. Many people turn to traditional long-term care insurance; however, if you do not use the coverage, you lose the money and it can be quite costly.

What you need is a strategy that:

- Offers growth potential
- Maximizes your long-term care dollars, and
- Allows you to pass on unused funds to your beneficiaries

You need ForeCare, an innovative fixed annuity with long-term care benefits that provides a multiple of your contract value for qualified long-term care expenses.

Benefits of a ForeCare fixed annuity

Because ForeCare is a fixed annuity you can participate in both protection and accumulation benefits:

- The interest crediting is guaranteed to never drop below 1% during the Withdrawal Charge Period (0.10% thereafter)
- The growth of your contract value is tax-deferred, and
- You don't risk equity exposure

Long-term care benefits

Unlike a traditional long-term care product, with ForeCare any contract value not used for long-term care expenses can be passed to your beneficiaries as a death benefit. However, there is a monthly cost associated with the long-term care benefits rider, which is based on the insured's issue age.

ForeCare also offers other unique benefits.

- Principal protection – Your contract value at month-end is never reduced below the contract value at the prior month-end (less any applicable withdrawals) due to the cost for the long-term care benefits rider.
- Tax advantages – Qualified long-term care withdrawals are typically federal income tax-free and your contract growth is tax-deferred.¹
- 2x/3x coverage – Provides double or triple the amount of the contract value for qualified long-term care expenses.²

Guarantees are based on the claims-paying ability of Forethought Life Insurance Company and assume compliance with the product's benefit rules, as applicable.

¹ Taxable distributions (including certain deemed distributions) are subject to ordinary income taxes, and if made prior to age 59½, may also be subject to a 10% federal income tax penalty.

Do you want More Care?

Double or triple your amount available for long-term care coverage²

ForeCare helps your assets work harder for you. These unique benefits help maximize the amount available to you for long-term care coverage, providing you with the confidence of knowing you're covered when you need it. Get more care with ForeCare:

- Receive double the amount of the contract value for qualified long-term care expenses with standard approval.²

— Or —

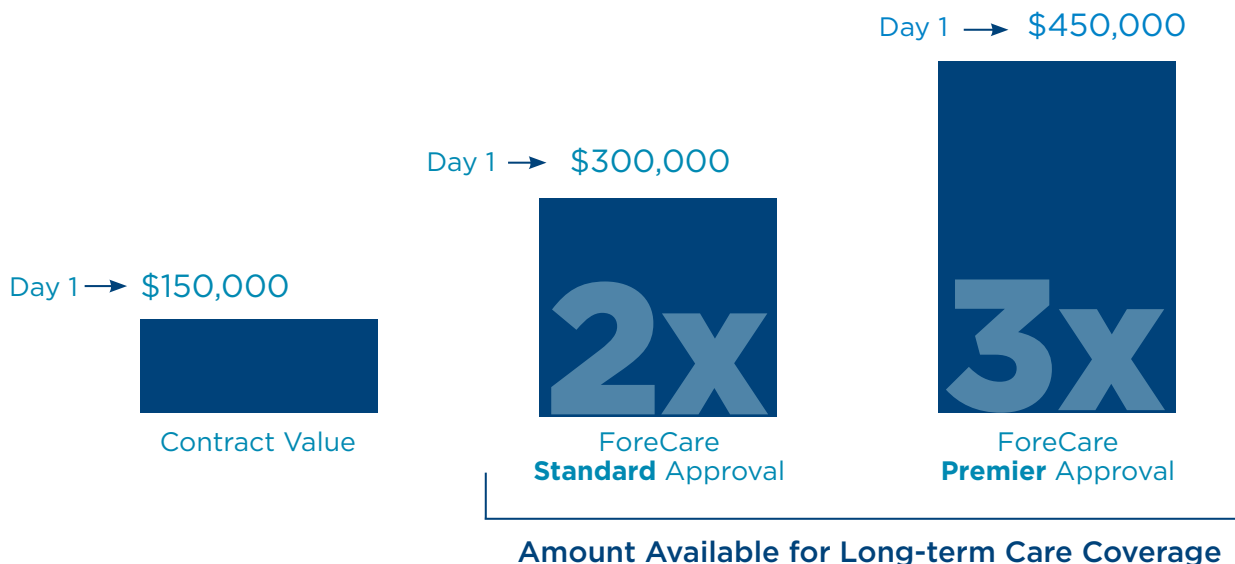

- Receive triple the amount of the contract value for qualified long-term care expenses with premier approval.²

The long-term care coverage includes the use of your contract value, meaning that you first must exhaust your contract value before you can use the additional ForeCare LTC benefits.

Here's how you can get more care with ForeCare

On January 1, 2010, the Pension Protection Act's (PPA) long-term care benefits took effect. Before the PPA, you had to pay taxes on the growth inside of your annuity before paying long-term care expenses. But now, you can use those tax-deferred dollars to pay for qualified long-term care expenses, typically federal income tax-free.

For example, if you invest $150,000 in a ForeCare fixed annuity, you receive $300,000 available for long-term care expenses with standard approval. But you could also triple your amount with premier approval, thereby receiving $450,000 for qualified long-term care expenses. And when you use ForeCare to pay for qualified long-term care expenses, it's typically federal income tax-free.

ForeCare Highlights

2x/3x contract value for qualified long-term care expenses

Principal protection

Tax-deferred growth

Typically federal income tax-free dollars for qualified long-term care expenses

Guaranteed minimum interest rate

Contract value is passed on to beneficiaries

² The ForeCare Multiplier provides two or three times (depending on underwriting eligibility) the amount of contract value in long-term care coverage to spend on qualified long-term care expenses. Benefits are subject to a maximum monthly benefit. The additional coverage in excess of the Contract Value is only available to use for a qualified long-term care benefit and will not become part of the contract value or the death benefit. Withdrawals, other than for qualified long-term care expenses, will adversely affect the amount of coverage for long-term care benefits in the future.

Do you want More Convenience?

Find out if you qualify within 30 minutes

Everyone wants more convenience in their lives — financial products are complicated enough without a cumbersome application process. Forget about filling out multi-page applications and waiting weeks or months to find out if you are approved. ForeCare streamlines the application process:

- The average ForeCare application process takes about 30 minutes.
 - There's no medical exam. Simply meet the height and weight requirements.
 - Then, answer a series of questions on your medical history to find out if you qualify and whether you could be approved at:
 - the standard level, which provides double the amount of the contract value for qualified long-term care expenses.
- Or —
- the premier level, which provides triple the amount of the contract value for qualified long-term care expenses.
 - Some applicants may be asked to participate in a simple memory and logic exercise via a 15-minute phone call.

And then you're done – it's that simple to apply for a ForeCare fixed annuity.

Do you want More Control?

You decide how and where you receive care²

Like most people, you would probably like to have a little more control over the simple things in life. With ForeCare, you can decide when and how to receive your care.² Whether you want to receive your care at home or in an assisted living community, ForeCare affords you more control to choose the best option for you.

In order to qualify for long-term care benefits,³ the insured must be diagnosed as chronically ill, which means either being severely cognitively impaired or being unable to perform at least two of the six Activities of Daily Living (ADLs).

Activities of Daily Living (ADLs) consist of self-care tasks, typically including:⁴

- Bathing: Washing yourself and getting into or out of the tub or shower.
- Continence: The ability to maintain control of bowel and bladder function, or caring for a catheter or colostomy bag.
- Dressing: Putting on and taking off all items of clothing and any necessary braces, fasteners or artificial limbs.
- Eating: Feeding yourself, including by feeding tube or intravenously.
- Toileting: Getting to and from the toilet, getting on and off the toilet, and performing associated personal hygiene.
- Transferring: Moving into or out of a bed, chair or wheelchair.

And, if you don't use your contract value for long-term care benefits, you don't lose your money. Any remaining contract value passes to your beneficiaries as a death benefit.

Covered care includes:⁴

- Home care
- Adult day care
- Hospice care
- Nursing home facility
- Assisted living facility
- Respite care
- Bed reservation
- Nurse and therapist
- Home health aide and personal care
- Homemaker services
- Chore services

² Covered Long-Term Care Services must be provided pursuant to a written Plan of Care that 1) was submitted by a Licensed Health Care Practitioner, and 2) has been approved by Forethought Life Insurance Company.

³ There is an elimination period of 90 days of covered care within 270 consecutive days.

⁴ List of covered care may vary by state. See contract for full descriptions.

Retirees Rick and Sherry's experience with long-term care.

Rick and Sherry have worked hard their entire lives and raised four children, and at ages 68 and 62, respectively, they are looking forward to enjoying retirement. They have mapped out the first 10 years of their retirement and all of the activities they plan to do. According to their plans, Rick and Sherry think they have enough assets to comfortably retire with $650,000 in total retirement assets:

- $500,000 of retirement assets 401(k), stocks, bonds, and savings
- $150,000 fixed annuity
- No debt

However, five years into retirement, Rick starts forgetting things. After multiple doctor visits, he's diagnosed with Alzheimer's Disease. He wishes to avoid being placed in a nursing home. Sherry agrees and with the help of family, friends, and home health aides, Rick lives for another 10 years. Besides the obvious emotional toll on Sherry, the financial toll on her remaining assets was extensive:

- Sherry spent $580,000 of their retirement assets on in-home health care for Rick.
- Sherry is left with only $70,000 of their total retirement savings after Rick's health expenses.
- If Sherry, now age 77, lives for an additional 20 years, she faces a difficult situation.

Could Rick and Sherry have done more?

Let's see what would have happened if they had used a ForeCare fixed annuity:

- If Rick and Sherry had taken $150,000 and placed that money instead in a ForeCare fixed annuity, they would have automatically doubled the long-term care coverage available with their contract value to $300,000 for qualified long-term care expenses upon approval.
- But they might instead be approved to triple the long-term care coverage available with their contract value to $450,000 for qualified long-term care expenses.
- With $450,000 available for qualified long-term care expenses. Rick and Sherry would not have needed to spend as much of their retirement assets on Rick's medical care, as the ForeCare coverage would cover much of his qualified long-term care expenses.
- In fact, Rick and Sherry could take as much as $5,000 per month in qualified benefits per insured, for ForeCare Premier with joint life coverage. With one insured receiving benefits, this would last 90 months. If both were receiving care the total amount of benefits would be the same but would pay out more quickly.
- If Rick and Sherry had a ForeCare Premier benefit of $450,000, and spent $580,000 on Rick's medical care, she'd have $370,000 of remaining retirement assets.

	Original Strategy	ForeCare Standard Approval (2X)	ForeCare Premier Approval (3X)
Assets	$500,000	$500,000	$500,000
Fixed Annuity	$150,000	$150,000	$150,000
Additional Value Available for LTC Benefits	$0	$150,000	$300,000
Total	$650,000	$800,000	$950,000
Cost of Care	- $580,000	- $580,000	- $580,000
Assets Remaining for Sherry	$70,000 in retirement assets	$220,000 in retirement assets	$370,000 in retirement assets

¹ There are a multitude of different products that may be accessed for retirement and long-term care needs. For example, stocks, bonds, mutual funds and variable annuities are securities and have different risk/reward characteristics, liquidity properties and tax consequences, particularly when compared to products such as CDs, savings accounts, money market accounts and fixed annuities. Certificate of Deposits (CDs) are bank products that are FDIC insured. Money Market funds are securities and are not FDIC insured and although these funds seek to preserve the value of an investment at $1.00 per share, there is no guarantee they will maintain this value.

² The ForeCare Multiplier provides two or three times (depending on underwriting eligibility) the amount of contract value in long-term care coverage to spend on qualified long-term care expenses.
