How your policy pays

Disability Buy-Out insurance provides benefits—as monthly payments, a lump sum, or as a combination—if the insured becomes totally disabled.

What does it mean to be totally disabled? It means the insured is unable to perform the substantial and material duties of his/her occupation and is no longer working in any other occupation for the company.

How much can be covered? In general, Principal takes into account the value of the business, other business financials and other disability coverage in force to determine a maximum benefit amount.

How are benefits paid? They're paid at the later of when the buy-out expense is incurred or at the end of the policy's elimination period. Benefits continue throughout the policy's benefit period or until the maximum benefit stated in the policy is paid.

What's included in your policy

The following features are available on your Principal Disability Buy-Out insurance policy:

- Benefit Update rider.² Every three years, the maximum amount of coverage can be increased (based on eligibility)—without proving good health. Advanced options may also be available.
- Legal/Accounting fee. Up to $3,000 for related legal and accounting expenses can be covered when the buy-sell agreement is exercised due to a disability. This benefit is paid in addition to all other benefits.
- Exchange Privilege. This policy can be exchanged for a Principal individual Disability Income insurance policy. It's a great benefit if the insured leaves the business and needs personal income protection.
- Transfer Privilege. If the insured ends employment at the company and becomes an owner in another company, this policy can be transferred without evidence of good health.
- Waiver of Premium Benefit. Principal suspends the cost for this policy when disability payments are being paid. We'll refund any payments made after a total disability began.
- Death benefit. This is paid if the insured dies while receiving monthly benefits.
- Guaranteed coverage and cost. Principal can't change your policy due to changes in health. Coverage can be canceled by Principal:
 - › If the policy is not paid for.
 - › If a written request to cancel the policy is received.
 - › After the buy-sell agreement terminates or is executed.
 - › If the insured is no longer employed with the company for any reason other than a total disability.
 - › At the insured's age 65 policy anniversary.
