Annuity Suitability Producer's Guide

NAIC Revised Model

What Is The Purpose of This Guide?

This guide has been designed to assist you in completing the Annuity Suitability Questionnaire / USA PATRIOT Act Form as well as provide you with a better understanding of why American National needs this information.

Why is This Important?

All recommendations for the purchase or exchange of an annuity product should be in the consumer's best interest based on information known by the insurance agent at the time the recommendation is made. Prior to making a recommendation for the purchase or exchange of an annuity product, the insurance agent should make a reasonable effort to obtain suitability information from the consumer regarding his or her insurance needs and financial objectives. Insurers are also required to determine the suitability of a transaction for your client.

To assist you in gathering necessary information, we have given you the Suitability Questionnaire / USA PATRIOT Act Form. This form has carefully crafted questions that can provide you with a clear picture of your client's needs, financial objectives and financial status, so you can be confident in making your recommendation.

Failure to fully complete this form will result in delays in processing and/or rejection of the application.

American National Needs Your Help!

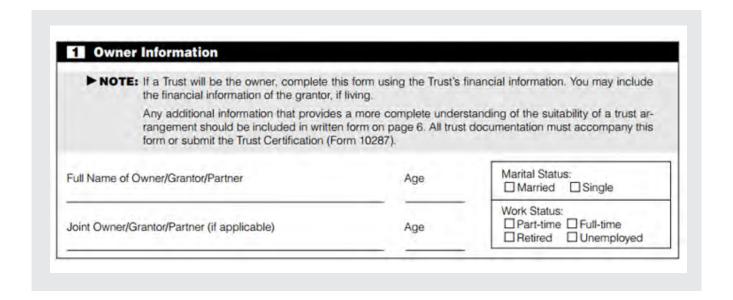

One thing to consider is that we were not in the room when you spoke to the client about this transaction. So when we review the annuity contract forms, we may be getting only part of the conversation. Therefore, American National needs your help putting the pieces together to make the annuity transaction go smoothly for you, your client and for us. Here are a few things to remember when submitting an annuity application to American National.

Have you taken the annuity product-specific training that American National requires each insurance agent to complete prior to selling annuities for American National? If not, be sure to complete this training prior to submitting any annuity contract applications.

Have you or your client filled out all of the required annuity contract forms? Any forms that have not been completely filled out may delay processing. Your client will also be required to initial any updates to the forms. So, make sure that all documentation is in good order prior to submitting the application to alleviate processing delays.

Remember that less is not always more. Providing us with any additional information about the transaction will assist us in understanding your rationale for making the recommendation. This will also cut down on phone calls and/or emails to obtain additional information about the transaction and avoid unnecessary delays.

Owner/Joint Owner Information Section

Tips for the Owner Information section:

- If the owner is an entity or non-natural owner, use the entities or non-natural owner's information to complete the form.
- If the owner is not currently employed, please be sure to include additional information about the owner's source of income in the Explanation of Transaction section.
- Non-Spousal Joint Owners must complete separate forms for each person.

Why the Financial Profile section is important:

- Knowing a client's annual household income, and how they obtain that income, can tell you if they have enough funds to cover everyday expenses. Knowing the household income of an unemployed client is especially important because it helps you evaluate the whole picture.
- Annuities have surrender charges. It is important that your client be able to provide for their current living expenses and any expenses that occur because of an emergency or unexpected medical issue.
- The client's tax status can be an indicator as to what the client is trying to accomplish with this annuity and is also an indicator of their income and relative affluence. If the client is in a higher tax bracket: they may be purchasing the annuity as a means to defer their tax burden. If a client is a senior and indicate that they have only have social security as their income yet check that they are in a higher tax bracket, you might be missing information that is important to this transaction.
- Understanding the insurance needs of your client ensures that all of their needs are addressed when offering them any product and you are looking at their financial situation as a whole.
- Due to the high costs associated with Assisted Living Facilities and Nursing Homes, it is important to understand your client's need for funding for these services in the near future. It may be unwise to lock up money in an annuity with surrender charges. Your client may, however, be using an annuity as a means to distribute funds to family members in order to meet Medicaid requirements to assist in the costs for these facilities.
- Before recommending an annuity for purchase, the insurance agent should review the current financial situation to determine if the product being proposed will help the consumer attain those goals and objectives.

appropriate. Any additional details that may help American National determine that the proposed contract supports a financial benefit to the client should be included in the Explanation of Transaction section, or on a separate page.
