Helping provide security for you and your family — today and tomorrow

Life insurance provides funds to your heirs exactly when they are needed, regardless of market or economic conditions. And while it can't replace all the richness you bring to your loved ones, your life insurance policy can help give you a tangible way of offering meaningful and lasting support during a difficult time to the people who matter the most to you.

How it works

Life insurance can provide immediate funds — as an income tax-free death benefit — to the beneficiary(ies) you name in your policy. Your loved ones will receive your policy’s proceeds directly, without probate, and on an income and estate tax-favored basis with proper planning.¹

Securing funds for a variety of needs

A life insurance policy allows you to protect your family financially and can be used to help:

Pay off a mortgage or other large debt

Fund education or retirement goals

Cover the contributions provided by a nonearning spouse (e.g., caring for children or the home)

Life insurance that rewards healthy living

Did you know that your life insurance can also help you pursue living a longer and healthier life? John Hancock Vitality life insurance — available with both our term and permanent policies — helps protect your financial future while offering you significant savings and rewards for the everyday things you do to live a healthy life.

You can choose to purchase:

Term life insurance

Secures financial protection for a specified period of time and is the least expensive policy option. Benefits may include:

- Less expensive in earlier years
- Flexibility on how long coverage should last
- Ability to convert to permanent insurance*

Permanent life insurance

Select from universal life, indexed universal life or variable universal life which can ensure financial protection for your whole life. Benefits may include:

- Supplemental income (e.g., during retirement)
- Help with paying for long-term care expenses*
- Added financial security during a critical illness*

Act today

Both permanent and term life insurance can help satisfy the fundamental purpose of a life insurance policy—to safeguard the financial security of the ones you love. A permanent policy can also help you address other needs that support your goals for the future. Talk to your financial professional today about which type of life insurance policy can help you secure the future you want.

*Subject to carrier and product availability.

This can be achieved by adding long-term care and critical illness type riders. These types of riders generally have additional costs.

Disclosures

1. Life insurance death benefit proceeds are generally excludable from the beneficiary's gross income for income tax purposes. There are a few exceptions such as when a life insurance policy has been transferred for valuable consideration.

Insurance policies and/or associated riders and features may not be available in all states.

Loans and withdrawals will reduce the death benefit and the cash surrender value, and may cause the policy to lapse. Lapse or surrender of a policy with a loan may cause the recognition of taxable income. Withdrawals in excess of the cost basis (premiums paid) will be subject to tax and certain withdrawals within the first 15 years may be subject to recapture tax. Additionally, policies classified as modified endowment contracts may be subject to tax when a loan or withdrawal is made. A federal tax penalty of 10% may also apply if the loan or withdrawal is taken prior to age 59 ½. Withdrawals are generally available after the first policy year.

Vitality is the provider of the John Hancock Vitality Program in connection with policies issued by John Hancock.
